

I am concerned about the possibility of Canada Post becoming further deregulated. I am aware that various aspect of Canada Post's operations have privitized over the past twenty years or so. What I have seen from this incompetent move is more people required to do the job, at lower wages, and performed by people with fewer qualifications.

I will be outraged if Canada Post is further deregulated, and I will be infuriated if it occurs without any public hearings.

Tricia Avison